

THE END

CALEB ACKLEY

He grasped at the air

He didn't want to be empty

For all the joy he'd been promised-he ended,

Fully lacking in plenty