

Internship Opportunity: The League of Amazing Programmers

Internship Position: Java Teaching Assistant Internship

Organization Background

The League of Amazing Programmers is a 501(c)3 nonprofit programming school with a mission of igniting young minds through programming. Providing students with a direct entry path into the workforce is a key mission of the school.

Key Responsibilities

Interns will serve as teaching assistants in classes that teach Java to students in grades 5-12. The classes are taught by volunteer instructors who are programming professionals.

This is an excellent opportunity for students studying computer science. Students will reinforce their own knowledge and skills by teaching others and make connections to professionals in the computer programming industry.

Qualifications/Minimum Requirements

- Experience with Java highly preferred
- Some experience with programming required
- Interest in teaching students.
- Complete a Livescan background check
