

Are blueberries the most important food for students?

Thesis Statement (at end of introduction): Even though there are many students in college who think that eating even one blueberry is worse than three midterm exams in one day, many doctors and health researchers agree that blueberries are the most important food for students.

Body paragraph 1= doctors defending me about blueberries

Body paragraph 2=health researchers defending me about blueberries

Body paragraph 3=presenting the student argument against blueberries and my arguments against them (which should be MORE convincing than theirs)
