PALOMAR COLLEGE—TRIO/SSS

UCSB Transfer

TRIO was the guiding hand that successfully led me through community college. They've encouraged me as a student at Palomar College with programs like free renting of textbooks for a semester, free printing, one on one counseling and more. Jamila, my counselor, always made it clear with what classes I needed in order to graduate and transfer. I appreciated her transparency and her support academically.

TRIO also took us on free field trips to visit different universities. Visiting these universities made it easier for me to decide which schools I wanted to apply to for transfer in the future. The most memorable trip we took was to San Francisco for two days. We visited San Francisco State University and UC Berkeley. This trip was perfect for students who wanted to travel but didn't have the money to do so (aka, me).

Another quality I love about TRIO is that they start off every semester with offering students free school supplies. If I wasn't already excited for the first day of class, knowing that I would have the supplies I need for the classes would excite me.

After being a part of TRIO for three years, I am now proud to say that I'm a Junior Transfer Film and Media Major at University of California Santa Barbara. I am absolutely in love with this school, but of course, it could never replace my first academic home that is Palomar College. I will forever appreciate TRIO and is heartwarming to know that they are dedicated to continue helping and being there for their former students. Thank you TRIO for continuing to be my warm and welcoming academic home.
