

Clamp Connection: Bridge-like hyphal connection characteristic of the secondary mycelium of many basidiomycetes; it insures that sister nuclei arising from division of the dikaryon become separated in the two daughter cells.

© W.P. Armstrong 2010

Original dikaryotic cell formed by plasmogamy between adjacent uninucleate haploid hyphal cells from same plant or different plants.

